Guard Report
June 17 1865

one Boisterous night when all things were sleeping Jim took off his frock to take a sly dog the Captain he came, late in the night sleeping when the Sentinel awoke him, right under his nose

Now his men being drowsy and void of all care the Captain began for to curse and to swear the Guard he soon formed, who made their present on foot was ordered, the Grand Rounds he went

He advanced on the left with caution and care I soon heard No 12, cry out who comes there although it was dark and the moon hid her beauty he found all on post, where doing their duty

Now if anyone approach me, its not from neglect for Jim he is called, one of the select those that will take the thing, plainly in view will find him not off, and central to
